

To Whom it May Concern:

I am writing to register my complaint as to being charged a ten dollar fee in order to cancel or drop a long distance provider. While I am acutely aware there are forms, fees, and processes to complete in triplicate, it seems rather steep to be charged ten dollars for what basically is a few minutes work. It certainly does not endear me to the federal government at a time when tensions and feelings towards that same government are mounting, to say the least. Perhaps someone could reconsider, and remember while this seems like a small and insignificant amount of issue to you, it is enough to make an average citizen file a complaint. Thank you for your consideration.
